

PRESS RELEASE
For Immediate Release
October 8, 2009

Ceralink Hosts Alfred University Alumni Reception

Troy, New York – On Thursday, October 1st, Ceralink Inc. hosted a reception for Alfred University alumni located in the Capital District area of New York.

The reception was held at the historic DeFreest Barn in Troy, NY, where over 70 AU alumni gathered to enjoy an evening of social networking over wine and hors d'oeuvres. Ceralink provided a tour of their Microwave Technology Center, and featured several local alumni artists during the reception.

“The atmosphere Ceralink created was incredibly warm and welcoming,” said Amy Jacobson, Director of Gift Planning at AU. “It felt like a gathering of family and friends, even though many of us had not met previously. There was reminiscing, information sharing, and plenty of laughter. A truly Alfred event!”

Speakers at the reception included Stan Colla, Vice President for University Relations, who delivered informal remarks about the importance of staying connected and giving back to AU; Matt Hall, Director of the Center for Advanced Ceramic Technology, who expressed his excitement and vision as the newly appointed Director of the CACT; and Dr. Holly Shulman, President and Founder of Ceralink Inc., who shared some interesting and humorous pieces of Ceralink history, and expressed deep gratitude and love for Alfred and all those who support her.

Ceralink Inc., a leader in materials engineering and technology commercialization, was founded and is currently operated by Alfred University alumni, including Dr. Holly Shulman (1987) Founder and President, Patricia Strickland (2002) Chief Executive Officer, Morgana Fall (2003) Operations Engineer and Shawn Allan (2002) Senior Materials Engineer. Ceralink also recently hired Nick Vandervoort (2009) Materials Engineer. Ceralink launched operations in Alfred, NY at the Ceramics Corridor Incubation Center in 2001, and relocated to Troy, NY in 2004 as part of their growth strategy.

Ceralink Inc.
Patricia Strickland, CEO
105 Jordan Road
Troy, NY, USA 12180

Phone: (518) 283-7733
Fax: (518) 283-9134
E-mail: patricia@ceralink.com
Web: www.ceralink.com